CHICAGO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1899.

PRICE, 5 CENTS

DOUBT ABOUT MAY W.'S DAM.

MARYVILLE, Mo., February 1.—I would call your attention to an error in Volume 7, page 356 of the American Stud Book, which reads as follows:

Florila (Sangaroo), ch. m., foaled in 1883, by Faustus, dam Bonnie Bruce, by Scottish Eclipse II., dam Lady Woodford, by Woodford.

Produced in 1893, b. f., "Plumeria," by Imp. Eagle Plume.

Produced in 1894, b. f., "May W.," by Imp. Eagle Plume.

The above is not correct, as Florila and Sangaroo are two separate and distinct mares, as you may see by the following produce of Bonnie Bruce, who produced in 1882, b. c., by Iowa Almont (trotter).

1883, ch. f., Forila, by Faustus (killed in 1884).

1884, barren to Faustus.

1885, The Moonstone, by Faustus (gelded).

1886, barren to Faustus.

1887, ch. c., Bobby Beach, by Faustus.

Bonnie Bruce died in 1887 and Florila had her leg broken in August, 1884 and was killed in November, 1884, as a yearling on the farm of the breeder, Mr. S. W. Briggs, of Maryville, Mo.

"Sangaroo" was a chestnut mare by Faustus, whose dam was Little Maud, not a thoroughbred. She was foaled in 1885, owned and bred by A. J. Waltz, of Maryville, Mo., who sold her to D. C. Reynolds, who took her to Manitoba in 1889.

The above statement can be verified by referring to the following parties: Mrs. S. W. Briggs, Albert Briggs, John M. Howendobler, E. E. E. McImpsey, Elmer Frasier, G. S. Baker, M. Nusbaum, A. J. Waltz, B. V. Prather and C. A. Mulholland, all of Maryville, Mo.

This matter is worth investigation. Donald Cameron, who races May W. and Plumeria, is a northwestern countryman and has repeatedly told the editor of DAILY RACING FORM that Florila and Sangaroo were the same. He owns the old mare, whose name is not Florila, but Florila. Cameron may be in error as to the two mares. The attention of Registrar James E. Wheeler of the American Stud Book has been called to the matter.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

Out in 'Frisco, the race in which Survivor beat Sam McKeever last Saturday, caused any amount of excitement, gossip and comment. Garnet Ferguson bought McKeever at Marcus Daly's sale in Montana last summer for $500 and won a number of good races with him. In a three-quarter dash at Oakland the colt forced Fred Foster's crack sprinter Abuse to put forth the limit of his speed to win by a scant margin.

This so impressed Foster that he gave Ferguson $5,000 for McKeever before the mile dash in which he played second fiddle to Survivor. Every speculator thought McKeever a "sure thing" and backed him accordingly, Garnet Ferguson wagering $1,000 of the money received from Foster on his chances. "Cash" Sloan rode McKeever and lost through bungling work in pulling up and losing ground he could not afterward make up.

At first, as is usual in similar cases, the starter was blamed, even the younger Ferguson berating his father for not using the recall flag and thereby saving his $1,000. But for once the newspapers were just to "Blue Grass James" and put the blame where it properly belonged, the Examiner saying: "The fault was not Ferguson's. 'Cash' Sloan, on Sam McKeever, the favorite, checked his mount momentarily after the field of four had left the gate on fairly even terms. Sloan appeared to think that the recall would be used, but he busied himself in earnest just as soon as he discovered that it was 'a go.'"

The running of the race seems to show conclusively that good as Survivor evidently is just now Sam McKeever is his superior and under Foster's skillful training and management is likely to do some notable racing before this year closes. Of the race the Chronicle says:

"The mile race for three-year-olds was pre-eminently the event of the day. Survivor and Sam McKeever came under the wire noses apart. The judges placed Survivor first, but it certainly looked as if Sam McKeever had won by a nose. At all events there was absolutely no doubt that McKeever was the better colt. 'Cash' Sloan, who had the mount, thought that there was to be a recall, and started to pull up the colt before he realized that it was a go. The contretemps at the post cost the Montana-bred colt fully four lengths, which made it an uphill battle, especially against a colt like Survivor, who can run a mile in 1:40. At any rate McKeever persevered, but he never loomed up as dangerous until the stretch was reached, when Sloan began to punish his mount and he gradually gained on the leader. The last furlong was desperately contested, the colts racing neck and neck and eventually passed the judges' stand locked together. Survivor ran a most creditable race, but McKeever carried off the honors, although he was placed second."

For some time past Hot Springs, Ark., has been the theatre of remarkably heavy betting operations and now a hot poolroom is in merry progress. The whys and wherefores are thus detailed to a Cincinnati newspaper Thursday; "There was a hot time in the poolrooms today. Fred Walbaum, Duke of Guttenburg, opened the Arkansas Club Poolroom and refused to join in the combination which has up to this time fixed the prices in the local rooms. He began hunching track prices and all the local rooms followed. The consequence was that the sharpshooters had things their own way from start to finish. The rooms 'up town' were in sharp competition on prices, and Shannon's room led in the fight. Takanassee, coming 1 to 4 from the track, was laid 3 to 5, and from that out long prices were laid. Steve L'Hommedieu, of New York; 'Pittsburg Phil' Coley Ullman and many other sharpshooters were out for the goods, and in several instances landed winners. More money was in circulation in chunks than at any racetrack in the country. The fight is still on and there is no probable end to the war of price hunching."

Henry McDaniels has recently received the following additions to his string in training:

Hickey Bros., Fannie Taylor, b. f., 3, by Tea Tray-Andelia.

C. L. Luke's Charlie O., ch. g., 3, by Jils Johnson-Bettie Wilson; Fannie Luke, ch. f., 2, by Candalmas-Bettie Wilson.

J. W. Showalter's bay filly, 2, by Likely-Sallie Marshall.

F. P. Kidd's chestnut filly 2, by Hanover-Shadow Dance.

Stables belonging to Canadian owners fared very well last year. The success of Martimas in the Futurity putting one, Mr. Wm. Hendrie, in among the leaders. The showing of the Canadian owners is as follows:

THE TURF NEEDS MORE GELDINGS.

Are geldings more useful as racehorses than stallions is a question which has often been discussed, and, though it may seem a trite subject to revive, it is, nevertheless, interesting, in that it brings up many pleasant reminiscences of the turf when unsexed horses were more prominent than in late years. The mention of the names of Parole, Monitor, Checkmate, Barnum, Bootjack, Drake Carter, Warfield, Crickmore, Strathmear, Sir Hugh, Raceland and Banquet will suggest racing careers that make strong arguments in favor of a more frequent use of the knife. Each of the above-named horses was on the turf a good number of years, and in their day were brilliant performers. It is a fact that geldings are easier to train, and, being more quiet, there is not that great strain on the nerves and sinews which is against the stallions, and renders their lives on the turf, as a rule, shorter than those of geldings. Again, the gelding process would tend to curtail the breeding of "weeds" and thus eventually be a great benefit to racing, as well as an improvement of the breed of horses. Every two-year-old colt which, under favorable conditions does not show merit should be gelded, for, while performance is not always a guarantee of a successful stud career, it is, nevertheless, a very powerful element to be considered in estimating the worthiness of horses to be patronized for breeding purposes. If a horse has not himself high class racing qualities it is not likely that he can transmit them to his progeny, for the foundation stone of breeding is the theory that like produces like. The rule, however, is not infallible, for there are many first class racehorses which proved failures in the stud, and the converse of the proposition, that horses of little merit on the turf sometimes proved successful sires is equally true, yet in the general lottery of breeding all favorable chances must be taken advantage of, and there is certainly a stronger probability of good results from a horse which has a record, backed, of course, by proper breeding.

The gelding of Parole, Monitor and others has been looked on as a misfortune to breeding, but the question, would they have been as great performers if they had been left entire, is a proposition in rebuttal of the misfortune idea. They might or might not, but it is certain that they could have been no better, with a strong probability that they might not have been so good. In view of the present status of the thoroughbred pedigree in this country in consequence of inbreeding and commingling of the various fashionable families, almost every horse which appears on the turf has a good enough lineage to breed to, but, in making a choice, high class performance should be a sine qua non and all which do not come up to a proper standard after a fair trial should be "added to the list." Many horses are improved by gelding and become useful racehorses, or they can be relegated to other purposes for which they would otherwise be of no value. If more colts were gelded and mares which have never produced racehorses were put to breeding other styles of horses and mules the thoroughbred interests of the country would be greatly benefited and the racetrack stables would not be filled with a lot of worthless "crabs" of no use whatever except to furnish a claim to a badge of admission to the track for trainers who handle them.

AN OWNER IN TROUBLE.

James Ready, one of the owners racing their horses at Tampa, Fla., is in trouble. The circumstances of the case are thus narrated in a Tampa newspaper of January 25:

"Norman Degnan, a negro exercise boy employed in the stables of the Tampa Bay racetrack, was thrown from James Ready's bay mare Lady Teacher, a heavy headed thoroughbred, while the latter was being exercised yesterday morning. The boy died shortly after being picked up and the owner of the horse is being held in the county jail to await the verdict of the jury of inquest.

"The accident, if such it can be called, was witnessed by several of the racetrack attendants and men around the stables. From what could be learned, it appears that the boy, Degnan, who was not more than 12 years of age, was exercising the mare, but did not ride her fast enough to suit Ready. He told the boy to ride faster. The boy said he was afraid of the mare. This is said to have angered Ready, and upon the boy dismounting, Ready took a board and gave him a violent beating. He then put the boy on the mare and started her on a run.

"Lady Teacher has a will of her own, and it was evident that the boy could not hold her. When she had gotten half around the track the boy was seen to fall. Some say the mare threw him, and others say that the boy became frightened, let go his hold and deliberately rolled off. After the boy fell the mare continued to run, and it was some little time before she was caught and quieted.

"Several of the stablemen went to the assistance of young Degnan. He was unconscious, and before they reached the stable with him he had ceased to breathe.

"The news of the boy's death, and the story of the beating given him by Ready soon spread and policeman Sellars began to look for Ready. He was informed that Ready had tried to burn up the board with which he had struck Degnan, and that he had then gone over to the city hall to have arrangements made for the burial of the body. The officer secured the stick which had been taken from the fire. He found Ready at the police station, and placed him under arrest to await the verdict of the coroner's jury as to the cause of the boy's death."

NOTES OF THE TURF.

An order to refuse the entry of Banish, Gomez, Gold Top and Shuttlecock until they have been schooled into the habit of good behavior at the post, was registered at the New Orleans track Wednesday. They and some of the jockeys had given starter Fitzgerald a power of trouble. Of the jockeys Maher was set down for two days and Frost, O'Connor and Troxier fined $25 each.

Tommy Murphy, the champion plater of racehorses, has sold to Dan McCarty a three-year-old colt by Racine from Prize (a good race mare and dam of the winner Credo), by Cheviot. McCarty raced Prize and Credo. The first named is now at Barney Schreiber's Bridgeton, Mo., stock farm.—San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. J. Nagle Burk is the owner of a two-year-old brown filly by Barney Schreiber's Australian bred sire, Foul Shot, that is said to be the finest looking two-year-old at the Oakland racetrack. Her dam, Rosette, was the dam also of Acclaim, Royal Flush, Coda, Delore and other good racers.

You bury one lie this week and a dozen more attends its funeral. The last one is that the "Duke" of Gloucester had bought the Fort Erie track and would hold a long meeting there this summer. The last part of the above statement would no doubt be true if there was any truth in the first part, but the Gloucester man cannot have anything to do with the Fort Erie track for four years to come, simply because the Highland Park Club have a lease of the property which has that number of years to run.—Canadian Sportsman.

Time, 244, 59¹, 1:15¹.

Winner—Rn. f. by Take Notice—Taluda.

Start good. Won easily. Bonibel liked the tight weight and ran away from the others when called on. She is improving and was well ridden. Madrone is a speedy sprinter only. Milkarth made up a lot of ground and finished strongly. Don Luis ran very disappointingly and was not well ridden. Nora Ives showed some speed. She is best suited by soft going. Nopian ran well to the stretch and then quit. Campus ran a bad race and it should be thrown out.

Overweights—Lomo, 5 pounds; Nopian, 3.

Bonibel, place, 2 to 1; show, 4 to 5. Madrone, place, 20 to 1; show, 6 to 1. Milkarth, show, 5 to 1. Campus, show, 3 to 5. Nora Ives, show, 6 to 1.

10508 SECOND RACE—3 1-2 Furlongs. Purse $350. 2-year-olds. Selling.

Winner—Ch. g. by Riley—Innovation.

Start fair. Won with something left. Innovator shows steady improvement and is a fairly good one. He was best today. Prestome ran a good race finishing like a stayer. Ice Drop closed a big gap from a bad beginning and should be kept track of. Rixford ran very green. Is reported to be a good one. Reginald Hughes was off badly and was not persevered with.

Overweights—Innovator, 2 pounds.

Innovator, place, 2 to 1; show, 1 to 2. Ice Drop, show, 3 to 1. Reginald Hughes, show, 1 to 2.

Winner—Ch. g. by Harry O'Fallon—May Kennedy.

Start fair. Won quite handily. Piggott stole a long lead and won because the other jockeys waited too long, expecting O'Connell to come back. O'Connell is in extremely good form, however. Moringa and Torsida should have been closer up. Both are good. Captive hardly ran to form. Mercutio was short and outclassed.

Scratched—Lime Water, 101.

O'Connell, place, 4 to 5; show, 2 to 5. Moringa, place, 3 to 5.

Time, 254, 524, 1:174, 1:47⁴.

Winner—B. h. by Florist—Becky B.

Start good. Won eased up. Dunois outclassed the field and had an easy time of it. Robert Bonner ran an honest, consistent race. Storm King ran well and is probably rounding into form. The race should improve him. Malay ran a good race. He is a stayer. Rosebeau may not have recovered from the race of the day before.

Overweights—Storm King, 3 pounds.

Robert Bonner, place, 3 to 1; show, 4 to 5.

Winner—Ch. c. by Brutus—Mistletoe.

Start good. Won easily. Mistleton went into the lead when called on and had no trouble in winning. He was easily the best and is a good horse over a distance of ground. Frohman showed a lot of speed. The finish on him was weak. Tom Cromwell's bad legs told when it came to finishing and he stopped perceptibly near the end. Reolia ran well and may win soon in a lower class.

Overweights—Mistleton, 5 pounds; Tom Cromwell, 4.

Mistleton, place, 3 to 5. Frohman, place, 3 to 5.
